SCRIPTURE

So you ought to have deposited my money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest. So take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents. 'For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away...'

(Matthew 25:27-29 NKJV)

INSPIRATION

A master has given 3 of his servants each a measure of talents in his going away. In his return, he expected them to not only give them back what he had given them but to give him back more. He gave each of the servants the minimum each of them would need to be successful, looking forward to finding that not only did they maintain what they were given, but they grew it. Prospering looked different to each servant: to the one who was given 5 talents, to the one who was given 2 talents and to the one that was given 1 talent. The same way that God does to all of us. When he created us and each day he gives us the bare minimum we would need, but when he returns he wants to see that we did more than just maintain what we were given, he wants to see that we grew, that we were successful, that we prospered, and above all that we were thriving creations.

PRAYER

Dear God, I realize that you have given me all that I need to not only maintain but to prosper. Today and everyday help me to take what you've given me and multiply it. Help me to prosper in every aspect of my life. Amen.
